

Jenny Vergara is a full time Foodie and a woman on quest to develop her palate and herself through cooking, eating, drinking, traveling and writing. She's a devout supporter of the culinary arts in Kansas City and beyond. As a food writer, she pens the Table Hopping column for Tastebud Magazine and is the author of a popular food blog called Making a Foodie found at <http://www.makingafoodie.com>. Finally, she is the force and Founder behind the Test Kitchen, Kansas City's Underground Supperclub. Test Kitchen is a secret dining society where local chefs and members come together for one-night only culinary events. To learn more go to: <http://www.testkitchenkc.com>.